Dear Honorable Judge Duggan,

It is my understanding from our meeting that you wanted me to present reasons why my Web site, www.aua-med.com should not be turned-off while I am out of the country.

I believe the plaintiff will use the fact that my Web site had an injunction filed against it to negatively influence the appeals court concerning my case against them.

I feel they will use the injunction as negative propaganda aiming to discrediting the information I have posted inside my Web site.

I would like address concerns I have with student safety.

Antigua is a relatively small island. The population is about 84,000 between two islands. I try to inform and criticize the plaintiff concerning crimes on Antigua on the front page of my Web site.

On January, 2010 a California graduate student was murdered, she was 29 years old, on vacation with her family celebrating her sister's wedding. (Exhibit – 1)

As of February 16th, the third murder of 2010 was a doctor. (Exhibit – 2)

The island government recognizes murder and sexual assault highest on their statistics as a problems. (Exhibit – 3)

A student of the American University of Antigua was sexually assaulted per the Antigua Sun News. (Exhibit – 4)

I would like to compare this with the plaintiff's web site concerning Antigua. (Exhibit-5, Exhibit-6 and Exhibit-7)

Plaintiff's quote: "Antigua is an ideal location for studying serene, secure and sustaining. Antigua provides AUA students with the most modern comforts and familiar lifestyle in the Caribbean, in a stable and safe environment.”

I believe this information is false and misleading to potential students, US citizens. Students could potentially suffer not only personal injury and financial loss relocating to this island for as long as two or more years.

Response to plaintiff's motion

I would like to address the student information that was published on my Web site. Both the plaintiff and myself agree that private student information was disclosed.

I use my Web site to try and notify students as well as Federal agencies concerning this disclosure since December, 2009. The Department of Education is fully aware of the contents of my Web site. I have an email from the Inspector General(Exhibit-8) stating

"After a careful review of your complaint, we have determined that the issues you raise may fall within the responsibilities of the Department's Office of Planning, Evaluation and Policy Development (OPEPD), Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) Division. I have provided below information on how to contact FERPA directly regarding your concerns."

I believe the plaintiff is trying to suppress this issue by shutting down my web site, because I use it to try and notify these students of this disclosure.

I tried to state in our meeting I believe it is in the best interest of the students that they be notified that their private personal information was released. The plaintiff has the most resources to contact the students, i.e. last known addresses, phone numbers and email addresses.

I believe the school is obligated morally and ethically to notify these individuals of this breach of privacy. I would also request that the school distribute a copy of the complaint form from the Department of Education, since there are time requirements for submitting a claim to the Department of Education.

I do not believe the plaintiff will succeed on any of their claims. I would like to point out that I have requested that the plaintiff contact me if any information was incorrect. But the plaintiff has waited til now to reply.

"AUA administration

If you have more accurate data than what I have demonstrated I am more than willing to modify both this video and www.AUA-MED.com to reflect that data"

This statement was published August, 2009.

I have not received a complaint by the plaintiff from Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN), (Reference 1). This organization is an international organization for the Domain Name System and has a process, Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy(Reference 2).

I can demonstrate that the plaintiff was aware of my Web site as far back as June of 2009 (Exhibit-9 and Exhibit-10), and their partners were aware of it as far back as April, 2009.(Exhibit-11)

This case is the first time I have heard any formal requests or responses from them concerning alleged violations against them.

I would like to state that it is evident that the plaintiff did less than minimal attempts to contact me concerning this case. The plaintiff is well aware of my email address and my Web site has my contact information. This demonstrates to me that the plaintiff has alternative motives than what they elude in this case.

Instead I found out about this from the solicitation by a law another law firm. It is I that contacted the court to request information and I, at great expense and burden to me, left my home to come here to defend myself well before receiving the all the information concerning this case.

The plaintiff has known about my Web site and the contents since June, 2009. Their partners have known about the content since April, 2009. I find it difficult to believe that shutting down my Web site for a short period of time is worth the effort. I believe this demonstrates that the plaintiff is trying to hinder an investigation and cause harm to those how hold claims there-in.

Shutting down my web site will harm me. One instance includes but is not limited to the fact I use it to communicate with government officials concerning claims I have filed against the plaintiff. Shutting down my Web site could hinder this research into my claims and possibly influence the researcher as to the validity of claims and content. I believe the plaintiff will use the injunction to influence the appeal of my other case. Court of Appeals No.:292172

Lower Court No. 2007-088103 CZ

I believe the plaintiff will use this injunction as a propaganda tool to discredit the validity of my information I have published.

Dear George: Thank you for helping Steve login to Exammaster. By copy to this email I would like to also address Steve's choice of login. While I believe in levity and freedom of choice, I wonder if Steve recognizes the personal image he projects by his login selection. Is this the demeanor and deportment of a professional, much less a physician who will need to secure the respect and confidence of his patients and peers to practice the healing arts? Moreover, should we be contributing to the advancement of individuals into the medical profession who favor these modes of self-expression? I would like Steve to answer these questions.

Dear Steve,

Sorry for the confusion. You need to login with the correct username. Your exams are sent to you via your login of "auasucks". That is the only one that will allow you to retrieve the exams.

Let me know ASAP if you have any further trouble.

Unless there's a specific URL for PONTIAC I used the right URL.....

Please check my account again and let me know when I can login.

Thanks

Steve

Comment I need information concerning a potential lawsuit and your contact information. My application does not work. I received an email from "RTUTTLE@brookskushman.com" stating that the "American University of Antigua" filed a "Trademark" lawsuit against myself for my Web site "www.aua-med.com". I am currently living abroad in St Martin, and possibly moving to the USVI's where I have been seeking employment. I would like an electronic copy of any information regarding this issue. I do not have a reliable mailing address for hard copies of information. I use my sister's mailing address since I live abroad and move while seeking employment. If this is truly the case I can assure you that this lawsuit is groundless and not based on "Trademark" violations. I have owned and operated this site for a year and it is clearly marked on the home page "This is not the official American University of Antigua, AUA, site."

Commen I need information concerning a potential lawsuit and your contact ts: application does not work. I received an email from "RTUTTLE@brookskushman.com" stating that the "American University of Antigua" filed a "Trademark" lawsuit against myself for my Web site "www.aua-med.com". I am currently living abroad in St Martin, possible moving to the USVI's where I have been seeking employment. I would like an electronic copy of any information regarding this issue. I do not have a reliable mailing address for hard copies of information. I use my sister's mailing address since I live abroad and move while seeking employment. If this is truly the case I can assure you that this lawsuit is groundless and not based on "Trademark" violations. Andrea,

I am living abroad and under the poverty level for a couple years. I will have to try and defend myself from wherever I am and with very limited means.

Does the courts supply any assistance for people under these circumstances?

Can I perform court activities electronically?

I see there are costs for using PACER, again is there another system or process I can use to obtain records?

Can someone in your office just confirm or deny that there are/is any cases filed against me?

Currently I have to use internet access from cafe's and etc and I have limited/unreliable mail access. I use my sister's mailing address, because I do not know where I will be living from month to month, while I seek employment.

I need access to legal material so I can try and learn the processes for dealing with court activities. Do you have the URL for legal material?

I believe this will put me at a great disadvantage to defend myself and limit my rights to Due Process.

Not being an attorney please forgive me for my inquiries..

Thanks

Steve

Post-mortem reveals tourist died from stab wound

News Articles - Local

Written by: Tania Weston

Published: 26 January 2010 02:00

A post-mortem examination was carried out last Friday on the body of murdered US tourist Nina Elizabeth Nilssen whose body was discovered exactly one week ago at Winward Bay, close to Pigeon Point.

The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Petra Miller-Nanton who issued a death certificate stating the cause of death was due to Haemorrhaging as a result of a stab wound.

Meanwhile, family members are now finalising arrangements to return Nilssen's body to her home in the Bay Area of San Francisco.

There has been no progress in the search for the killer. The police, who issued a description of the man they are looking for, are pleading for information from members of the public that could lead to an arrest.

The San Francisco Chronicle reported that friends of the dead woman gathered Sunday in a state of shock to remember her.

The 29-year-old San Francisco State University graduate student had arrived in Antigua aboard the Royal Clipper. The family was celebrating the marriage of Nilssen's 32-year-old sister.

On route to St. Kitts, the vessel docked in Antigua, and the family disembarked for a barbecue at Winward Bay. That was the last time they saw Nina alive. Her body was discovered just before nightfall last Tuesday.

Nilssen was described as a fearless traveller, whose adventures included trekking in

Cuban doctor is third murder victim for the year

By Martina Johnson - Wednesday, February 17th, 2010

A small group of Cubans stood shell shocked on a sidewalk on All Saints Road Tuesday night as police officers conducted investigations into the homicide of their compatriot, a 39-year-old doctor whose name the police asked the media to withhold since the next of kin had not been notified.

A neighbour, who reported hearing sounds of a struggle and screams for help, rushed to the upstairs apartment just west of Townhouse Mega Store where she found the district doctor dead. This happened at around 9:30 pm, although Dr Cecil Philip, who would officially pronounce the man dead, arrived at around midnight.

Officers on the scene said the deceased was face up in his living room, which was splattered with blood, on the floor and on the sofa. Reports indicate that there were signs of struggle and there appeared to be a wound to the back of the man's head. At the time of posting it was unclear if there were any other injuries.

A Cuban nurse, a friend of the deceased, told the OBSERVER that she left the man's apartment at around 9:05 pm and got a call from another friend about an apparent incident. She said she returned at about 9:50 pm to find that her friend had been killed.

As the clock approached midnight, the Cubans remained rooted to their spot on the sidewalk as police officers probed the scene and media workers sought to overcome the language barrier to conduct interviews. Save for the three groups, there was no one else around, no shouts of anguish or tears, just obviously shocked friends communicating in their native tongue.

One woman, who lives in the building where the killing took place, fearing for her and her family's safety, packed a suitcase and sought refuge with friends in a nearby apartment building.

Senior Sergeant William Holder made an immediate request for the public's help in solving the third homicide for the year. He urged anyone with information to call the Criminal Investigations Department (CID) at 462-3913 or 462-3914 or the nearest police station. (With reports from Martina Johnson who was on the scene.)

Murder, Sexual Offences Top Police Stats

Sexual offences and murders have, for yet another year, emerged as major problems for the Royal Police Force of Antigua & Barbuda, according to crime statistics released yesterday.

The figures indicate that sexual offences have increased 127 per cent from the 44 recorded last year, while there were 16 murders, two more than occurred in 2008.

Incidents of rape have more than quadrupled from the figures recorded in 2007, the year the Sexual Offences Unit was formed. Thirty-three cases were recorded this year with 10 arrests compared to the 23 reported in 2008 of which there were five arrests.

Statutory rape or rape of minors more than doubled from the 12 reported last year to 33.

Twenty-two arrests were made this year compared to last year's 12.

Attempted rape cases spiked to 11 from the previous two.

There were slight increases in serious indecency and indecent assault, aiding and abetting in connection with sexual offences, buggery and incest.

Jeffers, who is known to the court, has spent one year and six months on remand at Her Majesty's Prison. The court took that into account in passing its sentence.

Jeffers, 22, on 17 May, 2008, about 3 a.m., stopped a medical student at the American University of Antigua (AUA), while she was on her way home.

Reports are the victim slowed down her vehicle in the vicinity of the Lion's Club when Jeffers jumped into her vehicle and told her to give him a ride. Jeffers directed the medical student to an area near a vacant lot where not too many houses were.

She pulled over to the side of the road and stopped her vehicle, at which time Jeffers virtually pulled the lever of her car seat and jumped on top of her. He put his hands over her eyes and started to squeeze into her eyes with his fingers. Jeffers took off his clothes and threatened to kill the woman if she screamed.

The young woman got a hold of the vehicle's cigarette lighter and tried to burn Jeffers with it. He, however, managed to knock it from her hand. Jeffers then placed his penis in the woman's face and told her to engage in oral sex.

The victim pulled away her head, at which time the convicted man pulled off her blouse and panties. He held her down and as he was about to rape her, a security pickup with a number of police officers drove up. Upon seeing the lawmen, Jeffers ran from the vehicle and the area naked.

The police pursued him but he was able to evade them. The victim was taken to the Holberton Hospital, where she was treated and discharged. Jeffers was picked up on 25 May and later arrested and charged.

Vere Bird Jr., speaking on Jeffers' behalf, told the court that the 22-year-old man attended the Pentecostal Church with his family. Bird said Jeffers was exposed to marijuana at the tender age of 10 years. The attorney said his client also used cocaine.

To whom it may concern,

Attached is a presentation, Dr. Victor Hrehorovich, Vice Chancellor Emeritus and Academic Counselor for AUA, gave his 5th semester students.

On page 13 of this presentation there is a graph of AUA pass rates, which were about 44%.

If you open the graph object, right-click, chart object, open. AUA revealed the USMLE and GPA for students that were reported per this graph.

The attached spreadsheet is that chart object saved as an excel spreadsheet.

If you open the tabs you will see all the student names and corresponding USMLE and GPA grades.

This is a list of the AUA students whose grades were disclosed, it does not include the transfer students that were listed in the presentation.

This site is b.s. and obviously made up by a disgruntled student. Take for example the youtube video titled Part 1: Student grads manipulation and falsifying documentation pointing out two students that had ~80% during 5th but failed overall. What he doesn't point out during the video is the students most likely failed the 5th term because they did not pass the shelf examination! The other students that had lower marks, as noted in the video, likely passed their shelf exam with a ~64 score and with that automatically passed 5th semester as long as their clinical hour requirements were met. I'll continue to edit this post and point out the erroneous "facts" noted in this website.

In the second video titled Part 2: Disregard for Basic Civil Rights - Due Process he fails to note that AUA is a private institution with its own set of rules and every student agrees to abide by them when they attend. If the student violated University Student Code of Done
